Nothing without you

by Mesamx

Category: Inuyasha
Genre: Adventure, Romance
Language: English
Characters: Rin, Sesshomaru
Status: In-Progress
Published: 2016-04-22 20:02:28
Updated: 2016-04-22 20:02:28
Packaged: 2016-04-27 13:21:36
Rating: M
Chapters: 1
Words: 2,922
Publisher: www.fanfiction.net
Summary: After deciding to stay with her kind instead of traveling with Sesshoumaru sama once again, Rin find herself running away on her wedding day and coming back to her lord, who has allowed her to accompany him once more. Now traveling with an adult and attractive woman had challenge his patience, self-control and pride, while the woman discover the meaning of love and engage in a comp

Nothing without you

After deciding to stay with her kind instead of traveling with Sesshoumaru sama once again, Rin find herself running away on her wedding day and coming back to her lord, who has allowed her to accompany him once more. Now traveling with an adult and attractive woman had challenge his patience, self-control and pride, while the woman discover the meaning of love and engage in a complicate relationship with her now adult body. This is a mature fic of two people forced to re start they relationship while fighting against their insecurities, memories and pride. Rated M for language, sex and violence.

I just ask for your patience with my grammar and spelling, I accept corrections, I am super dyslexic and writing is part of my therapy.

I DO NOT OWN INUYASHA (I WISH I DO) AND I AM NOT PROFITING FROM THIS FAN FICTION

PART 1

A young Bride was being paper by her best friends; A miko from another time, and a demon slayer, and by her care taker the sweet old miko that had taken care of her for the last nine years.

Rin had Finally decide to accept one of the multiple merry proposal she had received since the age of 12, now at 18 she had decided to merry a young widower, a quiet men called Takaki, second son of the feudal lord. She was already old to get marry and many had told there that she was already late to start a family, but her beauty and manners kept attracting men to her door despite her mating years were getting shorter by the day.

-Rin, you don't have to do this. The young miko said softly to her ear.

-I appreciate your concern but this is not like the future you came from Kagome-chan. I am already late to marry and besides I cannot be a nuisance for lady Kaede any longer, she is already very old.

The old lady pushed the shoulder of the young bride to be. - Who are ya calling old? The reaction made the three young women laugh

-You never been a nuisance and never will, I tell ya, you do not need to get marry if you don't want to, you can always become a miko like me. The old woman was very concern by the obvious unhappiness of Rin, no matter how much effort she put on her smile.

-I already gave my word lady Kaede. She valued her word more than anything, as a poor peasant that was the only thing she could give that had some value.

-Oh Rin-chan, to this day I can't still understand why you didn't go back with Sesshoumaru. Sango regretted her words as soon as they came out of her mouth and a shadow went on Rin's eyes.

-I am Sorry.. I did..

-It is alright Sango-chan, it was the best for both of us, what kind of life could I have by his side? And I know he is better off without me to worry about. Rin face was marked but a sweet smile toward her fried, but her hearth was aching just at the thought of her lord, the one that she saw for the last time five years back.

FLASHBACK

A cherfull teen Rin was being bother deeply but a recent comment Inu Yasha had made in front of her.

After a visit from her lord, who used to Come very punctual every 3 weeks Rin was extremely happy, she loved the gift he always brought for her, but more than anything his presence, she missed him dearly every day. Now at 14 the young girl had started to have embarrassing thought about her lord, but she blamed the age on that, and hoped there soon went away, she was waiting for the day he asked her to come back to him and resume their trips.

During the last visit Sesshoumaru had brought her a diary, not a common thing in feudal Japan, it was covered in fine leather and her name was imprinted in golden letter on the front. She ran to Kagome's and Inuyasha's hunt, she new Kagome will appreciate such a beautiful gift as much as her, and that was truth. Kagome had thought her how to read, write and use numbers.

Kagome was admiring such a beautiful diary, and explaining to Rin that they were used to write your feeling and thoughts. She was super thrill for such a gift and could not wait to get by herself and start writing on it. Inuyasha was seating in front of the women playing with a little cat Kagome had recently adopted.

-Bah Sesshoumaru always bring such estrange gift, he should bring some food or something more useful.

The girl smile at Inuyasha's comment, she had learned how simple minded he was but also how kind.

-Well I guess is a milestone for him to kept coming, you know, he is a cold heathen bastard, when he leaves you here I was sure he was just going to took off, but he kept coming, the bastard sure kept his word no Mather what.

Kagome just rolled her eyes in front of his now husband lack of filter, but Rin was still laughing already used to that kind of coming, what they did not expect was for him to kept talking.

-I really never understand why he kept you, I mean he was always so damn proud and suddenly he the great lord of the west was being mock for traveling with a girl that was just slowing him down.

-Sit! Kagome's scream made and echo in all the hunt.

After the last visit and Inuyasha comments Rin had become to a realization, she should never go back to Sesshoumaru-sama. she knew he would allow her if she wanted to because he was a man of his word, but that was it. She was weak and just slowed him down, her company force him to waste time on her needs, but mostly the fact that he, the greatest of all was being mocked because of her, it was just too much. Her company was a humiliation for him and she will never forgive herself for that, she loved him more than anything, he was her all word and she was so selfish to notice that she was not more than a nuisance, an annoying duty she had force onto him. Rin cried day and night, and all people around there was worried, she had taken a decision that had broken her hearth and shattered her should into pieces.

Sesshoumaru came back as punctual as ever, Rin looked tired and her cheerful smile was gone, but if she wanted to share with him she will do it. Instead she asked to speak with him on private to which he approves despite Jaken protest.

-Speak. He told the young girl that barely resemble the little girl he meets years back.

They had walk together to the exit of the village to a full blossomed meadow.

-My lord, I have taken a decision. She had to fight back the tears breathing strong. â€“I have decided to stay here, with my own kind.

Before she could even breathe again he had turned. -Do as you wish. He had just taken off just like that, not a good bye, not even a last look to her, he just disappeared in a ball of light.

End of Flashback

Rin had been finally left alone after a night of preparations, it was her last night alone and she could not calm herself. Recently she had understood the duties of a wife and she felt surreal that in a few hours she will be in her husband arms fulfilling such a nasty duty. She had dreamed about kisses and secret touch but not about such a nasty situation. As a young girl she wished to kiss the full lips of her lord, just to make contact with her owns, but after seeing Miroku and Sango to engage in a secret and passionate making out session she started to dream of her lord in such embarrassing ways.

She tried to get rid of his memory but the crescent moon in the sky made it impossible, she wanted to cry and ran away. But it was too late now, she wished to go back to him, to be a nuisance, a bother until her last days. Takaki was a good man, good looking and educate but she knew she would never love him. And why? Because her hearth was occupied already for those golden eyes and pale skin she dreamed about every night.

She did not sleep that night, and as soon as the sun raised Kagome and Sango hurried to her hunt to prepare her. She just felt like a doll, they were picking her hair, putting garments and painting her face. Everybody was awfully quiet and she could not bring herself to eat anything. The red kimono took hour to be put on and she could not breathe properly, it was heavy, and despite the chill fall weather she felt hot.

-It is almost time Rin. Lady Kaede had spoken, she was ready with her hair pined high, her withe faces with red lips and heavy red garments.

-We will wait outside for the groom to arrive. Sango informed.

Sango and Kaede leave, letting Kagome standing still.

Kagome was looking at Rin who was staring to herself into the mirror, she did not recognize that with woman with sad eyes and delightful garments staring at her.

-Rin Chan. Kagome's voice was low and hesitant.

-What is the matter Kagome-cha?

- I really don't know if you want to know this butâ€¦ Kagome made a big pause and breathe deeply. â€“ I can feel Sesshoumaru's presence nearby.

In There all her composure got lose Rin stood as fast as she could, a terrible ache in her stomach and chest did not let the air came into her lungs and the tears just started to pour making her with make u get loose and the black of the eyes run thru her cheeks, she started too pull unsuccessfully her garments.

-Get me out of this Kagome-Chan please, I can't breathe.

Kagome got scared for Rin's reaction and helped the girl to undo the first layer of the Kimono, but she was still suffocating so despite the wedding being just minutes away Kagome just started to undo layer after layer.

Sango entered the hunt to see such a scene. She could feel the fading presence of Sesshoumaru and knew that Kagome had informed Rin of that. The layers were falling one after the other until Rin had just wearing the with undergarment. Her eyes were red jumping in her still withe painted face.

She was crying hysterically and Kagome surrounded her with her arms.

-Its not to late Rin-chan. She was trying to comfort her.

Rin managed to calm herself and get some air into her lungs.

-Bring me to him please. Was the only thing she managed to said.

Sango has instructed Kirara to follow the scent and bring Rin to Sesshoumaru wile her and Kagome handle the disaster left behind.

Sesshoumaru had found about the wedding few weeks back from Kohaku who was chasing a dragon the long haired demon was interested in killing himself. He had informed the young slayer that he was not interested in such lame human events, but despite such words he has come.

After he found out about the news he started to wonder if that was the reason why she decided to stay whit the humans, off course that was it. So after all Rin had become just another lame woman wishing for a wife and kids. That was the normal thing, she was a human, that is what humans do. He found himself thinking more and more about the girl and her wedding despite his irritation. With no explanation the night before he took off leaving Jaken and Ah-Un behind, not even he knew he was going until he found himself near to Inuyasha's village. He was confusing by his sudden action and could not bring himself to get nearer or leave. He was just standing there in the forest like waiting for something to happened. Probably InuYasha will appear soon and throw a tantrum to him, but he was there immobile, just waiting.

Kagome had clean the disastrous make up from the girl face and let her hair loss from all the pins, that was a hard job that had to be done with Sango's help. They had to make Rin sat back many times, she was hurry and worried her lord would leave the area before she could reach him.

-You haven't seen here in five years Rin-chan, you can't present yourself like that. Sango's voice was more cheerful that it was supposed to be in such complicate situation. The fact was that both women, Sango and Kagome were married for love and didn't want their young and sweet friend to be married just by obligation.

-I have brought a new Kimono. Lady Kaede announced entering the hunt. She was also trilled by Rin deciding to left her wedding behind, she loved the girl as her own and was sure that sesshoumaru will allow her to go back to his side at any time.

-Lady Kaede I am so sorry. Rin muttered shyly.

-No sense kiddo, Hurry up and leave before Takaki came looking for you.

The women clean Rin up, and help her put a simple yellow kimono that allowed her to move freely.

Sesshoumaru felt the suiting and soft smell of Rin getting near him, she knew he was near, it was too late to run away. He waited under the same tree he was resting before with eyes close and emotionless face. He felt when the slayer's cat demon landed, and when Rin went down to the pasture. A soft wind brought her smell nicely mixed with that of the wild flowers, but he refused to open her eyes.

As soon as she got down of Kirara she spotted him across the small meadow, he was seating under a tree, with his eyes clothes and his marbled face illuminated by the midday sun, he was even more flawless and beautiful that she remembered. She walked toward him biting her lower lip and holding her hand over her fast beating heart.

-My lord, you came. Her voice was weaker that she expected.

-Why aren't you getting marry? That question just stormed out of his mouth with that monotone voice of him, but he did not move, not open his eyes.

-My lord I justâ€¦ she breathed deeply trying to find strength to speak. â€“ I just didn't want too!. She almost screamed, and she felt relieved to admit that.

-What is what Rin wants then?

His question give her hope, if she really said it, will he allow her to follow him once more, will that be ok?, she felt selfish but she had realized that there was no more life for her that follow her lord to wherever he choose to go.

-What Rin wants is to Travel with lord Sesshoumaru again. She could not believe how secure and calm she had managed to sound despite the suffocation and ache in her chest.

He slowly stood and opened his eyes, he was looking away from her, or that is how it looks with his face facing the horizon, but he could perfectly see the young girl looking down, biting her lips and stretching her kimono, she was nervous, he could feel it, hear it and smell it, and for some reason he liked it. Her eyes were red, she had been crying and her checks were blushed. She had surely change, from the long and skinny teen she was five years ago. She had blossomed into a beautiful woman with long brown hair, rose lips and big eyes, certainly tall for a human woman with pale creamy skin.

-Do as you wish. His answer had made her hearth stop, she knew him, she understood what he meant. To even his surprise he had given her permission to follow him once more.

He could see how her face lit up in a second and a bid wonderful and childish smile took over her face.

-Hai! She screamed running to his side like a little child. She was barefoot as she preferred and her kimono allowed her certain freedom of movement.

She stood in front of him still smiling and he was forced to look direct at her, she was moving side to side anxious letting her long waist hair move with the soft wind.

-My lord, can I pick up some stuff?

-Ujum. Was all he replied.

-But My lord I have to wait till the night, you see this Rin just ran off her wedding. She pressed her lips against each other, she was not even ashamed she rather looked playful. He was surely shocked by her shameless declaration but did not show it, and he knew he rather bring her away than force her to go back to an unwanted wedding. Why? He wondered, well he didn't know. Years back after her second dead he had acknowledged he cared about her, that her life was valuable to him, and that did not change even when she decided for the human's company rather than his.

End
file.